

Comenius Meeting in Greece

On April 11th some students and teachers from this high school went to Greece to attend the 2nd meeting of the Comenius project "Migration, a Pilgrimage to Welfare". Apart from us there were also students from Holland, Italy,

Greece and Portugal. We stayed two days in a hotel in Athens, the capital of Greece, and we visited the Acropolis and other ruins. There, we ate typical Greek food, we went to a museum, we bought souvenirs, we took lots of photos and we had fun. After those two great days, we went to a town called Trikala for the meeting. We arrived by train and then we went to our Greek partners' homes. Next day we went to the school. There we met the other Comenius students. We did a lot of activities with them, so we had a very close friendship with everybody in the exchange. We visited the Town Hall of Trikala and we met the Mayor, then we walked around sightseeing, we went to a monastery in Meteora (Kalampaka), we watched a Volleyball match... The other delegations returned to their countries on the 18th but we stayed in Trikala because a volcano from Island didn't let us come back. Because of this eruption we returned to Igualada five days later.

It was an amazing trip. We hope we can meet all the people again!

Our stay in Holland

Migration, a Pilgrimage to Welfare is a Comenius Project in which Institut Pere Vives Vich participates with other four European schools from Italy, Portugal, Greece and Holland. It is also the name of an optional credit which can be chosen once or twice during the course by students in the 3rd year of ESO. The language we use in the credit is English.

Last October a delegation from our school travelled to the Netherlands because there was a meeting in Harderwijk where we met a lot of students and teachers. They were all great and very friendly.

The first day we met our families and we always spoke in English. Our families showed us their town.

The second day we rode to the school on a bicycle and one of us hit a pole, because it was her first time. A lot of people cycle in Holland. The school in Harderwijk was very big. We participated in different activities and went to some classes. In the music classroom there were drums, a lot of guitars and three pianos.

We spent the last two days in Amsterdam with our teachers. There we visited the Rijksmuseum, the Van Gogh Museum, Anne Frank's house and other places. We discovered that there are a lot of bicycles and trains in Amsterdam. We think that it's a nice city, but dangerous.

We had a wonderful time in the Netherlands.
